

Chapter 8

Distribution List

The Defense National Stockpile Center is providing copies of the Final Mercury Management Environmental Impact Statement (MM EIS) or its Executive Summary to Congress, Federal, state, and local government agencies and officials; Native American groups; and other organizations and individuals as indicated below. The Final MM EIS and Executive Summary are available on the MM EIS Web site (www.mercuryeis.com), and copies will be provided upon request.

Congress

- Senators and selected Representatives from the States of Indiana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Tennessee, and Utah

Federal Agencies

- Agencies that are members of the Interagency Working Group—U.S. Department of Commerce, U.S. Department of Energy, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, U.S. Geological Survey, and U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
- Defense Logistics Agency, Defense National Stockpile Center, U.S. Department of Defense, U.S. Department of the Interior—Bureau of Indian Affairs, Tennessee Valley Authority
- National Laboratories: Brookhaven National Laboratory and Oak Ridge National Laboratory

State Officials

- Governors from the States of Indiana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Tennessee, and Utah
- State Departments of Environmental Protection of Indiana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Tennessee, and Utah
- State clearinghouses, Environmental Commissioners, and other state contacts, including The Association of New Jersey Environmental Commissions, New Jersey Environmental Federation, New Jersey Mercury Task Force, Ohio Office of Federal Facility Oversight, and Indiana Office of Pollution Prevention Technical Assistance

Local Officials

- Mayors, police chiefs, fire chiefs, county executives, contacts at city councils, city chambers of commerce, industrial development agencies, offices of emergency management, and county health departments in areas near potentially affected sites

Industry

- Organizations, including The Chlorine Institute, Jacobs Engineering, Flaum Management Co., Inc., Fallon Business Council, Oak Ridge Industrial Development Board, The Advantage Group Enterprise, Inc., GeoSyntec Consultants, CDM Federal Programs Corporation, Foster Wheeler Environmental Corporation, URS Corporation, Nuclear Fuel Services, Inc., East Tennessee Environmental Business Association, McCoy Environmental Technicians, Inc., DHHS, Duratek, Inc., Day & Zimmerman Hawthorne Corporation, Placer Dome America, Parson Behle & Latimer, Utah Industrial Depot, and PermaFix

Public Interest Groups

- Organizations, including King & Spalding/Coalition for Mercury Management, Save Our Cumberland Mountains, National Wildlife Federation, Sierra Club, Oak Ridge Local Oversight

Committee, League of Conservation Voters, Redus and Associates, Friends of the Earth, California Communities Against Toxics, Mercury Policy Project, Health Care Without Harm, Scarboro Community Empowerment, Oak Ridge Citizens' Advisory Board, Worldwide Performance and Innovation, League of Women Voters, Maine's People's Alliance, Oak Ridge Environmental Peace Alliance, City of Oak Ridge Community Development, Association of Interstate/Water Pollution Control Administration, American Lung Association, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Roane County Chapter, Worldwatch Institute, Natural Resources Defense Council, Environmental and Occupational Health Sciences Institute, National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, Environmental Quality Control Board, U.S. Public Interest Research Group, The Greater Washington Urban League, Environmental Defense, Izaak Walton League of America, Resource Recovery Report, Environmental Technology Council, Center for Public Environmental Oversight, S.C.R.E.A.M., Environmental Council of States, Citizens for a Healthy Environment, Community Reuse Organization of East Tennessee, The Nature Conservancy, National Congress of American Indians, and Rural Alliance for Military Accountability

Media

- Local newspapers, radio and television stations in areas near potentially affected sites

Information Repositories

- EIS documents are available at information repositories in areas near potentially affected sites

Organizations and Individuals Who Have Requested Copies

- The Final MM EIS or its Executive Summary will be mailed to those who previously requested a copy.