- b) After receipt of payment but prior to either shipment or the end of the contract period, the Government shall be responsible only for the exercise of reasonable care for the protection of the material.
- c) After shipment or the end of the contract period, whichever occurs first, all risk of loss, damage, or destruction from any cause whatsoever, shall be borne by the Contractor.

G.7 Default (FEB 03)

- a. (1) The Government may, by written notice of default to the Contractor, terminate this contract in whole or in part if the Contractor fails to—
 - (i) Make payment and remove the material within the time specified in this contract or any extension;
 - (ii) Remove the material within the time specified in this contract whether or not payment has been made;
 - (iii) Make progress, so as to endanger performance of this contract; or
 - (iv) Perform any of the other provisions of this contract.
- (2) The Government's right to terminate this contract under a. (1) (iii) and a. (1) (iv) above, may be exercised if the Contractor does not cure such failure within 10 days (or more if authorized in writing by the Contracting Officer) after receipt of the notice from the Contracting Officer specifying the failure. Upon the Contractor's failure to cure such default within that period (or such further period as the Contracting Officer may allow), the Contractor shall lose all right, title, and interest which it might otherwise have acquired in and to the material as to which a default has occurred.
- (3) If at any time prior to the expiration of this contract, the Contractor makes it clear either by words, actions, or circumstances, that the Contractor is unwilling or unable to perform under this contract, the Government shall not be required to furnish the Contractor notice specifying a failure under this contract, prior to exercising its right to terminate this contract for default and seek damages.
- b. If the Government terminates the contract, the Contractor shall be held liable for damages as described below. However, in no event will damages exceed the original contract price.
- c. If the Government terminates the contract for default, it may subsequently resell the material for the Contractor's account, under the terms and in the manner the Contracting Officer considers appropriate, and assess the Contractor the difference between the contract price and the price obtained on resale. In no event will the Contractor be refunded any money if the Government obtains a greater price on resale, nor will an accounting of money be made until resale is complete. In the event that the Government does not resell the material within 12 months, the Contractor may be held liable for the full contract price for the quantity of material on which the default has occurred. In order to calculate the Government's damages on contracts where the contract price is determined on a formula-price basis, the Government will establish the contract price for the quantity of material on which the default has occurred as follows: Using the pricing mechanism set forth in the contract, the Government will set the price as though the material had been priced on the last day of the contract period or the date of the termination notice, whichever is earlier.

- d. If, after termination, it is determined that the Contractor was not in default, or that the default was excusable, the rights and obligations of the parties shall be the same as if the termination had been issued for the convenience of the Government.
- e. The rights and remedies of the Government in this clause are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this contract.
